"In March 2007, I was diagnosed with breast cancer. That day I remember thinking, 'Either this diagnosis will control me or I can be proactive in my decisions, and try my best to control the cancer with integrative treatment options.'

Having heard of the Wellness Community, I never dreamed that one day I, too, would be seeking their support, advice, and direction. After attending a WC lecture by a UCLA doctor on cutting edge treatment of breast cancer, I set out to explore all my options. I started with natural products, such as herbs and other supplements as part of my daily regimen. Then, I was introduced to liquid nutrition with Mangosteen fruit and Acai berry by New Vision Int'l. These super antioxidant juices are loaded with bio-available nutrition that immediately nourishes and heals my body.

The bottom line...I've been drinking these juices since I had my bi-lateral mastectomies in September this year. Even my doctors at UCLA can't believe how fast I am healing and how well I am doing. I felt like going back to work after just two weeks after my surgery! I have so much energy and mental alertness...which really made the difference while going through chemo. My entire family takes these products. Now, everyone around me now sees the need and the benefits of these super juices...and the power of nutrition and healthy, wellness options."
